

The Universal Pre-K Opportunity Cost

By spending billions in coming years to pay to bring 4-year-olds from wealthier families into an untargeted Universal Pre-K approach

70,000

0- to 3-year olds in low-income families would still be Left Behind

unable to access the high-quality early education that research indicates they badly need

What does 70,000 left behind kids look like?

Metrodome 64,111 capacity

American Spirit / Shutterstock.com

The 70,000 low-income children still left behind after Universal Pre-k would not even all fit in the former Metrodome.

Help low-income kids first, not last.